August 25, 1988

The Honorable Carroll A. Campbell
Governor of South Carolina
State House
Post Office Box 11369
Columbia, South Carolina 29211

Dear Governor Campbell:

I am pleased to submit the Annual Report of the Board of Corrections and the Commissioner of the South Carolina Department of Corrections for the period July 1, 1987, to June 30, 1988.

As I begin my second year as Commissioner, it is a privilege to report to you that the level of professionalism at the Department of Corrections is outstanding, and the morale among the workforce is high. This Annual Report reflects the dedicated and conscientious effort made on behalf of the people of South Carolina by the 5,100 employees of the Department of Corrections during the past fiscal year. The Department, within the resources provided, successfully met the challenge to accommodate an ever increasing prison population and comply with statutory and judicial standards for a modern prison system. I am confident that, in the year ahead, both the employees and the leadership of the Department will be equal to these continuing tasks and the new challenges which face us.

The Annual Report contains information on the Department's statutory authority, history, correctional institutions, personnel, programs, and the inmate population (including extensive statistical data.) We hope the Report will be informative and useful to you, to Members of the General Assembly, and to others who require information about South Carolina's prison operations.

Very truly yours,

Parker Evatt

South Carolina State Board of Corrections

In 1960, the General Assembly established a State Board of Corrections (to replace the Board of Directors of the Penitentiary) and charged them with governing the Department of Corrections. The Board is composed of seven members, six of whom are appointed by the Governor, one from each of the congressional districts of the State, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The Governor is ex officio a member of the Board. Appointments by the Governor are for a term of six years, and the terms are staggered to promote continuity. (Reference: 24-1-40, Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976.)

On June 30, 1988, the following distinguished citizens were serving on the Board of Corrections, with a total of 84 years of experience and service to the people of South Carolina in this capacity.

Congressional District	Name	Residence	Date of Initial Appointment
First	Betty M. Condon, Vice-Chairman	Mt. Pleasant	1972
Second	Norman Kirkland	Bamberg	1962
Third	Goetz B. Eaton	Anderson	1981
Fourth	Charles C. Moore, Chairman	Spartanburg	1968
Fifth	C. Lock McKinnon	Lancaster	1987
Sixth	Eugene N. Zeigler, Secretary	Florence	1974

Ex officio    Governor Carroll A. Campbell, Jr.

The Board holds a regular meeting on the second Tuesday in each month, and special meetings may be called as necessary. The public and news media are entitled to attend regular meetings of the Board.

Pursuant to law, the Board employs a general Commissioner of the prison system who carries out the policy of the Board and has the authority to manage the affairs of the prison system.

The Commissioner

Parker Evatt was appointed Commissioner of the South Carolina Department of Corrections, effective September 1, 1987. Mr. Evatt was very familiar with the corrections field. He served from 1966 to 1987 as Executive Director of the Alston Wilkes Society, an organization dedicated to helping former prison inmates and their families establish new lives. During his 13 years as a member of the South Carolina House of Representatives, Mr. Evatt worked tirelessly for the betterment of the State's corrections system through provision of sufficient funding and appropriate legislation to deal with overcrowding, alternatives to prison sentences, and enabling legislation for various prison programs and services. In addition to a bachelor's degree from the University of South Carolina, Mr. Evatt earned his master's in Criminal Justice from USC's College of Criminal Justice.

Mission Statement

It is the mission of the South Carolina Department of Corrections to:

- Protect the public by maintaining those persons remanded to its custody, in the least restrictive, most cost effective environment consistent with public safety.
- Provide humane supervision and conditions of confinement in accordance with the South Carolina Department of Corrections' constitutional and statutory mandates and with the American Correctional Association's Standards.
- Provide programs and services which are intended to enhance the community re-integration, the emotional stability, and the economic self-sufficiency of those persons placed under the jurisdiction of the South Carolina Department of Corrections.
- Promote efficiency and cost-effectiveness in correctional operations and administer all aspects of the department in a fair and equitable manner, while providing for the safety and general welfare of employees and inmates.
- Comply with legislative, judicial, and executive directives at all times, and ensure that the constitutional rights of those under custody or control of the South Carolina Department of Corrections are maintained.
- Develop goals, objectives, and plans that implement the mission of the South Carolina Department of Corrections and review them annually.

Historical Perspective

Reaching the Modern Era

The modern era of corrections in South Carolina began in 1960 when the General Assembly established the Department of Corrections "to implement and carry out the policy of the State with respect to its prison system." The State Board of Corrections was established and empowered to employ a Commissioner of the prison system, "who shall possess qualifications and training which suit him to manage the affairs of a modern penal institution." That anticipated model penal system has come a long way in the last three decades. Changes since 1960 have far surpassed the corrections evolution experienced in the preceding 100 years.

The General Assembly, in 1866, recognized the unsuitable conditions prevailing under county supervision of convicts. Control of convicted and sentenced felons was transferred to the state and the State Penitentiary was established. For almost 100 years, the State continued to experiment - as other states were doing - with various corrections programs. Work, for example, was considered to be of a beneficial nature. It could help defray the cost of prison operations, keep inmates busy and out of trouble, and perhaps even teach them a trade which would stand them in good stead when their sentences were finished. Education was also looked upon favorably at times and programs were begun (and later terminated) to educate prisoners. Religious instruction was also authorized. Separate facilities for young boys, young girls, women, and physically and mentally ill inmates came into being.

As the decades rolled on, the forty-six counties throughout the state faced a need for labor for building and maintaining roads. The General Assembly frequently passed laws to accommodate the counties, and county supervisors had full authority to choose either to retain convicts for road construction or to transfer them to the State. By 1930, the local prison system, or what is more commonly known as the "chain gang," was in full swing, coexisting with the state system which was represented by the state Penitentiary. As in most other aspects of South Carolina life, county prison conditions depended heavily on the wealth of the county, and the skills and knowledge of county officials. Inevitably, unequal conditions resulted, and there was no uniformity in keeping abreast of changing correctional philosophy. Even with the establishment of the Department of Corrections in 1960, the dual-system of State and county prisons continued. Such critical problems as adequate planning and programming, efficient resource utilization and equitable distribution of rehabilitative services were not comprehensively addressed.

An Adult Corrections Study, completed in May, 1973, by the Office of Criminal Justice Programs in the Governor's Office, gave major impetus to coming to grips with South Carolina's corrections problems. The first major step was the closure of county prison operations. Legislation in 1974 gave the State jurisdiction over all adult offenders with sentences exceeding 90 days, and counties were required to transfer any such prisoners in their facilities to the State for custody. Along with the prisoners, some county prison facilities were transferred to the State; however, many of these proved unsatisfactory for long-term use. Assumption of the custody responsibility for county prisoners and the closing of many local prison systems worsened the over-crowded conditions in State facilities. The Department of Corrections began to plan for the regionalization of SCDC operations. In 1974, two Regional Correctional Administrators were appointed and plans proposed for a number of regional, community-based facilities. The 1977 Comprehensive Growth and Capital Improvements Plan laid the groundwork for the reality which exists in the late 1980s: three correctional regions, each with a number of community-based prisons and work centers assigned to them for administrative and operational oversight. (These are described in other parts of this Annual Report.)

Population Crisis

The movement to regionalization was a difficult one for many reasons, not the least of which was the unprecedented increase in crime in South Carolina, as elsewhere in the nation. Fiscal year 1975 was a key year; when it ended there was a 53 percent increase in the number of prisoners held in State institutions (5,658, up from 3,693 at the end of June 1974). The increased crime rate, the transfer of county-held inmates to the State, and the legislative mandate for all long-term (over 90 days) prisoners to be under SCDC jurisdiction, literally pushed the State system to the breaking point. Although the population in State institutions has grown every year since 1975, the growth has been somewhat less dramatic. On June 30, 1988, the in-custody population was 11,740.

Prison overcrowding, or insufficient bedspaces to accommodate the incarcerated population has been a long-standing problem for the Department of Corrections, and, in effect, for the State of South Carolina. The problem existed even when the county-State dual prison system was in vogue. (The overcrowding problem is not unique to the Palmetto State, as the federal prison system and other states have experienced the same escalation in the growth of prisoners.)

Recent Developments

Several early release programs were developed in the late '70s and early '80s in an effort to reduce the prison overcrowding problem. An Extended Work Release Program authorized by the legislature in 1977 allows qualified offenders to live and work in the community under intensive supervision during the final phase of their sentences. A year later the Litter Control Act established an Earned Work Credit Program as a means of reducing the amount of time that had to be served by inmates engaged in productive work while in prison. In 1980, two "good-time" measures were consolidated and additional time off a sentence was allowed for inmates with clear disciplinary records while in prison.

In 1981, legislation creating an independent correctional school district for SCDC inmates was signed into law. The long-range goals were increased state funding on a per pupil basis (realized in fiscal year 1985), and enhancement of the quality and scope of educational services to inmates through improved standards and accreditation.

The year 1982 saw implementation of the Community Corrections Act which established the Supervised Furlough Program (permits carefully screened inmates to live and work in local communities under supervision), and reduced the time to be served before parole eligibility for non-violent offenders from one-third of the sentence to one-fourth. A year later, the Prison Overcrowding Powers Act authorized the Governor to declare a state of emergency when certain conditions of overcrowding existed and to order the sentences of qualified offenders reduced to effect the immediate release of some prisoners. Subsequent amendments to this Act, principally in the Omnibus Criminal Justice Improvement Act of 1986, changed the procedure to allow the release of a set number of prisoners, rather than advance the release date of all eligible prisoners.

The 1980s also brought increased public concern for the rights of victims of crime. In the mid-eighties, the General Assembly responded by passing laws which levied harsher penalties (particularly for repeat offenders or those who committed violent crimes), limiting parole eligibility for repeat and violent offenders, increasing the minimum sentence for certain crimes. Offenders convicted of burglary and murder were particularly singled out.

The Omnibus Criminal Justice Improvement Act revised several early release provisions. Eligibility for parole, supervised furlough and earned work credits programs were made more restrictive. An "enhancement" measure was added to the Code of Laws whereby anyone convicted of a violent crime who was in possession of a firearm or knife has an additional five years added to his sentence. This "flat-time" has to be served without reduction of any sort.

The Act offered a weapon to reduce long-term incarceration prospects for some offenders. A ninety-day shock probation program was instituted for first-time youthful offenders, as were restitution centers. These programs came on-line during fiscal year 1987-88.

As can be seen from the foregoing, the modern era has been a mixture of: prison overcrowding, early release programs and mechanisms, increased crime rates in certain offenses, a tougher attitude toward criminals from the public and the legislature, and increased admissions and longer times served. The net effect has been an exacerbation of the prison overcrowding problem, despite major steps to alleviate it.

The Department has opened six new prisons since 1980, and has two more under construction and scheduled to open in fiscal year 1988-89. Even with this new construction, South Carolina has come under increased pressure to do even more. The total design capacity at the end of fiscal year 1980 was 4,606; at the end of fiscal year 1988, the agreed upon "safe and reasonable capacity" was 10,682. As fiscal year 1988 closed, the inmate population in SCDC facilities was approximately 109 percent of capacity.

Two suits filed in the federal courts in the last twelve years have centered on the overcrowding problem, which impacts on health care and inmate safety. Consent Decrees were signed in two significant suits, Mattison v. S.C. Board of Corrections, (filed in 1976, decree signed in 1978), and Nelson v. Leeke, (filed in 1982, decree signed in 1985). As a result of both decrees, the S.C. Department of Corrections, with support from the Governor's Office, the General Assembly, the State Budget & Control Board, and the State Attorney General's office, has made a concerted effort to comply with the terms of the agreements to eliminate overcrowding and make other improvements as agreed upon (e.g. employ more correctional officers, increase training for all employees, upgrade old facilities, develop and implement a modern classification system, establish procedures to hear and adjudicate inmate complaints).

At year-end, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the Department could house two prisoners in each general population cell at five new medium/maximum security prisons. For budgetary and security reasons, the Department was not able to fully double-cell any new medium security facility immediately, but plans were made to begin double-occupancy of approximately one-half of the general population cells at the new Lieber and McCormick Correctional Institutions in July 1988, and to simultaneously accelerate the placement of inmates in the new Broad River Correctional Institution until this facility is fully single-celled.

The most immediate effect of the ruling was to negate the need to grant early releases to 700 non-violent offenders, and to alleviate the pressure to immediately build two new prisons - which would have been necessary to avoid non-compliance with single-celling provisions of the Nelson agreement. The ruling represents a total additional capacity of 2,056 inmates.

South Carolina Department of Corrections Organizational Structure

(As announced through June 30, 1988.)

Department Organization

The South Carolina Department of Corrections is governed by the State Board of Corrections, a seven-member board, six of whom are appointed by the Governor, one from each of the six Congressional Districts of the State, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The Governor is ex officio a member of the Board. The Board is responsible for setting overall policy.

The Department is headed by a commissioner, appointed by the Board of Corrections, who administers Board policy and manages the day-to-day affairs of a modern penal system.

The Department is organized into three primary functional offices, or areas of responsibility: administration, operations, and program services, each of which is headed by a Deputy Commissioner. Other specific staff functions are attached to the Commissioner's Office, as described below.

Office Of The Commissioner

Within the office of the Commissioner are the following specialized administrative staff support divisions/offices:

- Division of Public Affairs

Responsible for all public information and public relations; it includes the crime prevention programs, the victim-witness liaison, and the law enforcement liaison.

- Executive Assistant

Conducts liaison with governmental offices, the legislature, correctional institutions, and others as required. Keeps the Commissioner informed of significant and related legislation, programs and procedures.

- Legal Advisor's Office

Provides legal consent to the Board, the Commissioner, and the Department, and it represents the Department in legal actions. The Office of Legal Settlements and Compliance is responsible for monitoring compliance with the terms of any court orders or consent decrees, in particular, the Nelson v. Leeke consent decree, under which the department is currently operating.

- Division of Special Projects

Administers efforts to accredit individual prisons by the Commission on Accreditation and directs the policy-change process for the Department. Also directs SCDC's Internship Program.

- Division of Internal Affairs, Audits, and Inspections

Responsible for conducting annual inspections of all local detention facilities. In addition, the Division conducts internal investigations and audits, and investigates inmates' complaints.

Office Of The Deputy Commissioner For Administration

The Deputy Commissioner for Administration directs the budgeting, planning, industries, purchasing, food services, personnel, financial accounting, offender records management, computer operations, and training programs throughout the Department. These functions are carried out through six divisions:

- Division of Budget and Planning

Prepares all budget requests for submission to the Budget and Control Board and Legislature, reconciles expenditures with appropriations, and prepares all capital improvement plans and requests for bond approval. The division also conducts monitoring, allocation and internal control.

- Division of Industries

Manages prison industries, farming operations, transportation and telephone communications. Its products and services include the state motor vehicle license tags, furniture refinishing and repair, vehicle repair, laundry, and milk and meat.

- Division of Support Services

Directs purchasing, food services, and the operation of the commissary and prison canteens.

- Division of Personnel Administration

Performs all the activities associated with recruiting and hiring new employees, maintaining personnel records, and payroll.

- Division of Resource and Information Management

Manages financial accounting; offender records; offender management information; statistical reporting and analysis; and automated systems management.

- Division of Training and Staff Development

Provides pre-employment and in-service training for all security and non-security employees.

Office Of The Deputy Commissioner For Operations

The Office of the Deputy Commissioner for Operations directs the management of all prison operations, security, construction, engineering, and facility and equipment maintenance throughout the prison system. Within the Office of the Deputy Commissioner for Operations are the three regional offices for prison operations (Appalachian, Midlands, and Coastal) and the following divisions and offices:

- Division of Construction, Engineering and Maintenance

Manages certain phases of new construction, and acts as liaison with architects, engineers and contractors working on construction projects. Other activities include management and operation of the physical plants, i.e. institutions, other buildings and facilities. This Division has the primary responsibility for implementation of the capital improvements plan.

● Division of Inmate Operations and Control

Oversees certain activities related to the movement, status, and number of inmates in SCDC facilities and in designated facilities and administers the Interstate Corrections Compact. This Division also contracts with counties for inmate work crews.

● Office of Security

The Director of Security is responsible for the Department's readiness to respond to emergency situations such as riots or hostage-taking. This office ensures that the special response teams, e.g., Reserve Emergency Platoons, Situation Control Teams, and Corrections Emergency Response Teams, are properly trained. This office also conducts regular security audits of high security institutions.

● Institutional Operations: Regional Offices

The state is divided into three geographical regions to facilitate management and operations. Each of the regions is headed by a regional administrator who directs prison operations within his region. The regions are: Appalachian, Midlands, and Coastal. Figure 2, page 16, outlines the counties which compose each region.

Office Of The Deputy Commissioner For Program Services

The Office of the Deputy Commissioner for Program Services directs the classification, health, mental health, education, and employment programs for inmates. Delivering a broad spectrum of program services under the supervision of this office during this fiscal year were the following divisions:

● Division of Classification, Youthful Offender and Community Services

Directs the classification of inmates for security and custody purposes. It also oversees the custody and supervision of certain offenders in community programs, namely, work release and extended work release, and monitors parole's supervision of offenders in supervised furlough and other early release programs.

(Note: At year-end, the Department announced plans, effective July 1, 1988, to disestablish this Division and elevate the Community Services Branch to the Division of Community Services, and the Classification Branch to the Division of Classification. Other functions within this Division will be assumed by the two new Divisions, except for Youthful Offender Parole, which will go to the Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services.

● Division of Human Services

Administers and provides a variety of programs and services directed at improving offenders' mental health, and emotional well being. The programs include: psychological assessment; social work services; substance abuse therapy; religious services and pastoral counseling; and athletic and other recreational activities.

● Division of Health Services

Renders medical, dental and psychiatric care to the inmate population. Through this Division, the S.C. Department of Corrections operates 24-hour out-patient clinics at the large institutions, two infirmaries, and utilizes a floor at the Byrnes Clinical Center, Department of Mental Health, for general hospital care. The Department operates seven dental clinics. It has several Transitional Care Units for intermediate psychiatric care and the Gilliam Psychiatric Center for acute psychiatric care. The Department provides most of the health care services with in-house staff; however, it contracts for health care services at four institutions.

- Division of Educational Services

This Division is also known as "Palmetto Unified School District #1" and administers and provides academic, vocational, special and career education and library services to the inmate population at 16 institutions, with satellites at pre-release and work release centers. The School District offers a variety of vocational programs, including auto mechanics, carpentry, plumbing, and heavy equipment operation and repair, and academic programs, including GED preparation.

Institutions

The South Carolina Department of Corrections operated twenty-nine correctional institutions as of June 30, 1988. These range in size from the largest (and oldest) Central Correctional Institution with an operating capacity of 1,364, to the smallest, Lower Savannah Work Release Center, with an operating capacity of 81. One institution, Broad River Correctional Institution, near Columbia, became operational in June, 1988.

The twenty-nine institutions are spread over three Correctional Regions and include: twenty-six prisons for male offenders, one for female offenders, one medical unit for male and female inmates*, and one (State Park Correctional Center) that has two units - one for male geriatric and handicapped prisoners and one for females on work release.

Eleven of the institutions as classified as minimum security, two as minimum/medium, seven as medium/maximum, and eight pre-release/work centers are also classified as minimum security. The medical unit houses inmates requiring minimum, medium and maximum security.

Each of the three Correctional Regions has a facility for intake processing, known as a Reception and Evaluation Center. These are adjacent to medium/maximum security institutions, i.e., Lieber, Perry and Broad River correctional institutions.

Effective April 1, 1988, the institutional capacities for minimum and medium/maximum security institutions changed as agreed upon in the Plyler v. Evatt (originally Nelson v. Leeke) Consent Decree, which the Department and the State of South Carolina entered into in 1985. Effective with this change, the department's "safe and reasonable" operating capacity was set at 10,682.

Additional details about these institutions, including average daily populations, design and safe and reasonable capacities, may be found in Table 1. Their location within South Carolina is depicted in Figure 2.

Outstanding Employees

Annually the Department recognizes its most outstanding Correctional Officer of the Year and Employee of the Year. These programs are designed to promote efficiency and to show that the Department appreciates those who have demonstrated exceptional performance.

Nominations for Correctional Officer of the Year are limited to Correctional Officers I or II, while the Employee of the Year selection may be made from any employee except Correctional Officers I and II, Deputy Commissioners and the Commissioner. In both programs, outstanding job accomplishments, self-development and interpersonal relationships with fellow employees, inmates and others are considered.

Carmelita A. Streater, a Correctional Officer at the Women's Correctional Center in Columbia, was chosen the Department's Correctional Officer of the Year for 1987-88. Officer Streater has been with the Department since January 1985, and is a graduate of Morris College in Sumter.

Other winners of this award in previous years include:

1986 Joseph M. Cavanagh	1977 Joseph P. Davis
1985 William F. Gault	1976 Samuel Latta, III
1984 Frank Taylor	1975 Godwin Quattlebaum
1983 Valerie W. Whitaker	1974 Benjamin Sweet
1982 Jack Belcher	1973 Eugene R. Grant
1981 Gloria Woodruff	1972 Emma Strickland
1980 Walter T. Ross	1971 Boyd R. Mullins
1979 Robert D. Mickle	1970 David L. Bartles
1978 George Coleman	1969 Guy T. Eaton

The Employee of the Year for 1987-88 was Robert L. Foulks, Senior Deputy Warden, Central Correctional Institution. Warden Foulks has been with the Department since 1971. He began his career as a Correctional Officer, and has earned a Masters Degree in Criminal Justice since joining the Department. Earlier winners of this award include:

1986 George A. Roof
1985 Kenneth D. McKellar
1984 Kyuzo Miyaishi (Frankie San)
1983 William T. Cave

Significant Developments Fiscal Year 1987-88

Agency-wide Administration and Management

Parker Evatt was selected as the new Commissioner for the S.C. Department of Corrections at the August, 1987, Board Meeting. He took office on September 1, 1987.

Earlier, William D. Leeke announced his plans to retire, effective October 1, 1987, after 19 years of service as Commissioner, S.C. Department of Corrections. He was presented with a framed Resolution at the Board Meeting in August, 1987, commending him for his thirty years of service in corrections work. Mr. Leeke was the longest serving corrections commissioner in the nation and, the resolution noted, "with expert guidance and strong leadership, made the South Carolina Department of Corrections one of the most efficient and progressive prison systems in the United States."

Mr. C. Lock McKinnon began serving as the Board Member for the Fifth Congressional District in July, 1987.

In November, 1987, the Board of Corrections elected from among their membership the following officers: Mr. Charles C. Moore, Chairman; Mrs. Betty M. Condon, Vice Chairman; and Mr. Eugene N. Zeigler, Secretary.

Employee Cost-Reduction Efforts

Annually the Department recognizes institutions or other organizational units for their outstanding leadership and good management practices in five distinct areas of operation: cafeteria, canteen, commissary, purchasing and vehicle management. "Pacesetter Awards" were presented to:

- For Excellence in Cafeteria Management: Northside, Cross Anchor and Kirland Correctional Institutions.
- For Excellence in Canteen Operations: Givens Youth Correction Center, Cross Anchor and Kirkland Correctional Institutions.
- For Excellence in Commissary Operations: Walden, Dutchman and Lieber Correctional Institutions.
- For Excellence in Purchasing Practices and Procedures: Campbell Work Center, Cross Anchor and Central Correctional Institutions.
- For Excellence in Vehicle Management: Campbell Work Center, Lieber and Kirkland Correctional Institutions.

A "Waste Watchers" program was instituted to enlist the assistance of both inmates and employees to operate SCDC more efficiently, and "to be the best for less." SCDC was the first state agency to start a formal program of this type. Approximately $460,000 in cost savings/avoidance were noted by fiscal year-end.

In February, 1988, the South Carolina Employee Suggestion Program became available to employees. Thirty-one suggestions were reviewed and several recommended for certificates and/or monetary awards.

The S.C. State Employee Wellness Program encourages positive health habits and helps reduce health care costs. The program was extended from the Columbia, S.C., area to each institution throughout the state, and plans made to incorporate employees' interests and needs into wellness promoting activities.

Financial Data

Briefly, the Department spent $152,954,502 during the fiscal year. At year-end, and subject to final audit, the Department had a surplus of approximately $1.9 million. A separate section of this report, Fiscal Information, contains more detailed financial operating facts and figures.

In the fiscal year 1988-89 bond bill, the General Assembly authorized the Department of Corrections to spend $44 million on new facilities, and $1.5 million on general renovations. New facilities include: one 808-bed medium security institution, one 50-bed maximum security unit at Kirkland Correctional Institution, one 384-bed female institution in the Appalachian Region, four 96-bed additions (Lower Savannah, Campbell, and Palmer Work Centers, Goodman Correctional Institution) one 192-bed addition at Givens Youth Correction Center. Total number of new beds: 1,818.

Based on a favorable purchasing audit report for FY 1987-88, the Department was awarded a higher purchasing certification, i.e., to $10,000.00.

Canteen sales increased by 13% - and losses decreased by 53% - over the previous year. Canteen sales to inmates totaled more than $ 5.8 million, and losses were held to $ 16,295.

Housing, Care, Security and Supervision

Campbell Work Center received the American Correctional Association Accreditation Certificate in August, 1987.

Watkins Pre-Release Center was reaccredited by the ACA in January, 1988.

The Presentence, Parole and Aftercare Section, Youthful Offender Branch, was reaccredited by the ACA in April, 1988.

Cross Anchor was audited in January, 1988, by the ACA Commission on Accreditation and recommended for reaccreditation (expected in August, 1988.)

A contract was entered into with the ACA for accreditation of Palmer Work Center, and Lieber Correctional Institution. Accreditation is an 18 month process.

Broad River Correctional Institution, near Columbia, became operational in June, 1988; nearly 500 staff members were hired and given initial training throughout the year.

Construction of medical facilities at McCormick and Perry Correctional Institution(s) got underway. A ten-bed infirmary opened at Lieber Correctional Institution to serve all institutions in the Coastal Region.

The "Unit Cleanliness Program" was started at Central Correctional Institution, with extra privileges available to the winners. This weekly competition between living units has had tremendous impact on the cleanliness and sanitation, as well as on inmate morale.

In February, 1988, a new Master Menu was implemented which takes advantage of current market trends and offers a wider variety of menu selections. Use of the new menu helped hold the total food cost per inmate at $1.72 per day. The Master Menu has received high acceptance by the inmate population.

Individual Growth and Motivation

The Inmate of the Year luncheon was held at Campbell Work Center in January, 1988.

$200,000 was received from the 1986 Federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act to initiate a departmental 48-bed drug treatment unit for inmates.

At Blue Ridge Work/Pre-Release Center, the Michelin Tire Company in conjunction with a grant by the Walter Johnson Training Institute, wrote, directed, filmed and produced a four-part skills training course for pre-release residents. The production deals with real life encounters releasees will experience in the job market. Michelin further trained Blue Ridge staff in implementing the course curriculum. For its efforts, Michelin was recognized as the SCDC Industrial Division Volunteer of the Year.

The United Hebrew Kingdom and Rastafarian religious faiths were recognized.

The first woman chaplain in over 15 years was hired to work at the Women's Correctional Center.

The Habilitation Unit for the developmentally disabled offender at Stevenson Correctional Institution was recognized as one of the program "models" for such programs by the National Institution of Corrections and the American Correctional Association.

More than 2,600 volunteers worked in institutions throughout the year and carried out such services as counseling, tutoring, recreational guidance, etc. This is considered to be the largest volunteer force of any state agency. The annual cash or in-kind contributions which this service represents exceeds $910,000.

Four additional Transitional Care Units were added at medium/maximum security institutions, bringing the total to six units providing intermediate level mental health care to inmates across the state.

The Clinical Pastoral Education program was centralized within Gilliam Psychiatric Center and integrated with the center program to expand training opportunities.

The Sex Offenders Treatment Program developed the Computer Assisted Profile System (CAPS) which assesses and provides research data on inmates participating in this program.

A sex offender group workshop and a drug education program were implemented at Walden Correctional Institution.

MacDougall Youth Correction Center had 44 inmates receive their High School GED Certificates during the year; inmates there also won the SCDC Intramural Basketball Championship for the second consecutive year.

Information Activities

A "Night in Prison" was held on April 27, 1988, at the Broad River Correctional Institution (about one-week before it was formally opened). Its purpose was to give individuals an opportunity to see first-hand what it is like to be in prison and to see the new facility and how it will be operated. Approximately 70 individuals representing judges, legislators, news media, other state agencies and SCDC staff participated. Approximately $2,000 was raised for charitable purposes, and the funds were donated to the Rape Crisis Network.

New Initiatives

Plans were implemented to merge Presentence, Parole and Aftercare services of the Youthful Offender Branch with the S.C. Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services, under a contractual agreement effective July 1, 1988. In exchange, the Department of Corrections will provide space, operate, and assume responsibility for the Restitution Center Program, as it does currently for the Shock Probation program.

Palmetto School District One

Three appointments to the Board of Trustees, Palmetto Unified School District, were confirmed by the Board of Corrections in September, 1987:

- Dr. Louise Anders, appointed by the SCDC Commissioner for a term to expire October 1, 1991;
- Mr. W.C. Hawkins, appointed by the Superintendent of Education for a term to expire October 1, 1991; and
- Mr. Hubert Bedenbaugh, appointed by the Superintendent of Education, to replace Mrs. Lucy Davis, with a term to expire in October, 1990.

Penal Facilities Inspection Services

The Department promulgated new Minimum Standards for Local Detention Facilities in South Carolina to enable work/punishment programs at county facilities and to govern the use of inmate labor. These standards, which were required by the Omnibus Criminal Justice Improvements Act of 1986, were approved by the Board of Corrections, and the Board of the Association of Counties.

Personnel

The SCDC Affirmative Action Policy was updated and officially endorsed by the Board of Corrections in October, 1987. Institutional Affirmative Action Plans were developed for each correctional institution. These plans include identifying affirmative action goals based on hiring opportunities, current work force, and community work force availability. The Department of Corrections moved up to 4th of state agencies (from 7th last year) in meeting affirmative action goals and objectives.

The Board of Corrections officially recognized the commitment and outstanding contributions made by Correctional Officers and extended "its appreciation and hearty congratulations to each officer" during "National Corrections Officers Week," May 8-14, 1988. An appreciation luncheon for correctional officers was held at the SCDC Training Academy on May 10, 1988, and was attended by the members of the Board of Corrections, who later toured the training facility.

The Department's Training Academy was completed in December, 1987, and officially opened for classes on January 4, 1988. Orientation for new personnel was provided to 1,655 persons; basic correctional officer certification was provided to 974 officers; and 3,877 employees participated in inservice training.

The Department encouraged, and was pleased to see, that through General Assembly funding, all classified employees were awarded a 4% base pay increase effective July 1, 1988, plus a $365 one-time bonus in December, 1988. Sufficient funds were also allocated in the Fiscal Year 1988-89 budget to upgrade all correctional officer positions one pay grade; this is equivalent to an additional 4% increase in correctional officer base pay salaries. This special upgrade will be effective in January, 1989.

The number of employees exceeded 5,000 for the first time in the history of the Department. In May, 1988, when the May 16th payroll reflected 5,020 employees. At fiscal year end, the Department had 5,138 employees. The Department was authorized in this fiscal year to employ in the upcoming year, an additional 719 positions, primarily for the Allendale and Evans corrections institutions.

The Department accepted a total of 21,174 applications, and processed 1,639 new hires. There were approximately 650 vacancies at year end, primarily in the correctional officer series.

The Position Management portion of the Department's personnel system was established. This permits tracking of the Department's employee head count and personal service funds on a position by position basis.

Department of Corrections employees increased their generous spirit of giving to both the United Way Campaign and Good Health Campaign by 57% over last year. During this fiscal year, contributions to the United Way were $31,836 (last year, $20,257), and to the Good Health Campaign, $17,433 (last year, $11,109).

Prison Capacity Increases and Other Capital Improvements

The shock probation center at Wateree River Correctional Institution opened in July, and was later named "Thames Shock Probation Center" in honor of former warden Jerald Thames. A formal dedication of the center was held in October, 1987.

The 24-bed shock probation unit for women at the Women's Correctional Center became operational on November 2, 1987.

Lieber Correctional Institution was formally dedicated on April 12, 1988.

Contracts were awarded for the construction of two new institutions, one each in Marlboro and Allendale counties.

Construction was completed on the Broad River Correctional Institution and the SCDC Training Academy.

Plumbing, ventilation, and lighting projects required by the Nelson v. Leeke Consent Decree were completed at all SCDC institutions.

(See also the Financial Data section, above, for information on new facilities funded in the 1988-89 bond bill.)

Programs for Inmates

The Earned Work Credit Program assisted 75% of the 7,679 inmates released during Fiscal Year 1988 to shorten their time served through productive work. This program, and the related statistics for this fiscal year, are more fully explained and reported on in Appendix E.

Several community programs continued throughout the fiscal year. 2,240 inmates were assigned to the pre-release program, 1,901 inmates were assigned to community work release, and 400 inmates were assigned to the extended work release program. Another 857 inmates participated in the 72-hour furlough program. (These programs are elaborated on in Table 26 and Appendix F.)

At their November, 1987, meeting, the Board of Corrections approved the furlough of January 1, 1988, releasees during the period December 24 through December 31. Approximately 221 regular inmates and 66 youthful offenders were furloughed.

The S.C. Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services held its first Parole Board hearings at the new facilities located at Broad River Correctional Institution in May, 1988.

Inmates assigned to work and extended work release programs were paid $7,149,051 in gross wages. $1,427,756 was paid back to the Department for room and board; $739,336 was paid to dependents; $1,154,572 was paid in federal and state taxes and FICA; and $1,602,648 was disbursed to the employed inmates.

As mandated by state statute, inmates on work release contributed during the fiscal year $291,210 to the Victims' Assistance Fund administered through the Governor's Office.

Inmates raised $26,820 for the 1988 Easter Seal Campaign. Since 1979, SCDC inmates have raised over $120,000 for this worthy cause.

Work and Vocational Activities

Industries Division:

- Was reorganized in February, 1988, and new goals announced include $25 million in sales and jobs for 2,500 inmates.
- Received approval from the Bureau of Justice Assistance for the Private Sector/Prison Industry Enhancement Certification Program to implement a joint venture with the private sector.
- Established a joint venture with a private company to assemble vacuum pumps for diesel trucks; began manufacturing modular office furniture at McCormick Correctional Institution; commenced a tele-marketing work program at the Women's Center; and started the first-ever around the clock three shift operation at the vehicle restoration plant at Lieber Correctional Institution.
- Increased its sales by over $1 million for the year, and employed over 1,100 inmates at year-end.

At Manning Correctional Institution, the state laundry underwent a complete renovation and modernization program to include the installation of new equipment and the rebuilding of some old units. Inmate training was upgraded to improve the quality of work.

Inmate labor was utilized on a variety of projects, e.g., Lieber Correctional Institution infirmary; Women's Shock Probation Unit; Men's Shock Probation Unit; 29,000 square foot warehouse for general services; restitution center near Manning Correctional Institution in Columbia; upgrade of Dutchman Correctional Institution to a minimum/medium security institution; cafeteria, chapel, medical area and gatehouse at Goodman Correctional Institution; gatehouse at Stevenson Correctional Institution; and several projects at both MacDougall Youth Correction Center and Greenwood Correctional Center.

At State Park Correctional Center, inmate labor was used to renovate the Masonic Building under the direction of the SPCC's Trades Supervisor. This phase of the renovation provides work space for two social workers, a vocational rehabilitation counselor and a vocational rehabilitation caseworker assistant.

Lower Savannah Work Center was able to maintain 100% employment of residents virtually the entire year.

At Greenwood Correctional Center, outside contracts for labor with the Highway Department, Emerald Center (Retardation Workshop), National Guard Armory, Lander College, Piedmont Technical Education Center, Greenwood Civic Center, and the Town of Ninety Six, S.C., were continued. These develop good relationships in the local communities, as well as provide work for inmates and payments to the State of South Carolina.

Vocational training for qualifying Northside Correctional Center inmates began at Spartanburg Technical College.

Plyler v. Evatt Highlights

(Originally NELSON V. LEEKE)

In 1982, Gary Wayne Nelson, an inmate at CCI, filed a class action suit against the Department of Corrections. The suit stated that the SCDC, systemwide, was violating the 8th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution prohibiting cruel and unusual punishment. The law suit was filed on behalf of all inmates in the system at that time and any inmates entering the system thereafter.

The Department negotiated with Plaintiffs' Counsel for two years before coming to an agreement on January 8, 1985. The General Assembly found the Agreement to be "in the best interest of the State" and authorized the Department to enter into the proposed Consent Agreement. Further, the General Assembly agreed to provide "substantial additional funding...or other remedies" to meet the terms of the Settlement.

The Consent Decree stipulates that the Department will end overcrowding at medium security institutions by January 8, 1988, and at all other institutions by January 8, 1990. The bedspace capacities for existing institutions were established pursuant to agreed upon minimum square footage requirements for inmate housing. Due to the increased admissions to the Department in 1986 and 1987, however, the Department filed a "Motion for Modification of the Consent Decree" in order to allow for double-celling at new institutions not meeting the specified square footage requirements of the Decree. This motion was filed specifically to provide the Department with additional bedspace by which to attain compliance with Nelson capacities at existing medium security institutions. In April, 1988, a ruling was received from the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals stating that the Department be allowed to fully double-occupy general population cells at these institutions. The Department's capacity was thus increased by 2,056 beds, although most would not be filled immediately. The ruling raised the authorized capacity of Lieber and McCormick institutions by 504 beds each, Broad River by 456 beds, and Allendale and Evans institutions by 296 beds each.

Since the Consent Decree was signed, the General Assembly has authorized funds for the construction of five (5) new prisons; funds for a unit at the Women's Correctional Center; and funds for five (5) 96-bed minimum security additions. Additionally, the General Assembly authorized funding to the Department during FY 88-89 for the following projects: 858 male medium security beds; 288 male minimum security beds; 288 male work release beds; and a 384-bed female institution. The additional bedspaces are necessary to accommodate the projected population growth to maintain compliance with the Consent Decree.

Although the primary focus is the elimination of overcrowding and inadequate staffing, the Consent Decree addresses many other issues affecting the operation of the institutions. The major issues include staff training, health care services, fire and life safety, and physical plant requirements.

An objective classification system was also ordered, primarily to provide separation of violent and non-violent inmates. Additional correctional officers and classification caseworkers have been required to implement this directive.

Quarterly reports on the Department's compliance are submitted to the Plaintiffs' Counsel, Court, the S.C. Budget and Control Board and to each institution. Should the Department be "out of compliance" with one or more of the issues contained in the Decree, Plaintiff's Counsel may request relief from the Federal District Court.

Classification System Progress

External classification is a means of assigning inmates to appropriate security levels based on objective criteria that predict the chances of their misbehaving in ways that disrupt the safe operation of SCDC institutions.

During the fiscal year, the External Classification System for custody and security level assignments was validated in accordance with requirements set out in the Plyler v. Evatt lawsuit settlement decree. The identification of predictive factors has been an ongoing research effort since 1983.

The latest analysis focused on 4,286 initial classification cases and 3,379 reclassification cases. In the initial classification sample, a correct prediction was made 83% of the time. In the reclassification sample, a correct prediction was made 94% of the time.

In the analysis, data on inmates' criminal histories, institutional adjustment and current commitment offenses were examined to see what (if any) effect these have on subsequent institutional behavior. The criteria for "misbehavior" are whether or not an inmate was convicted of a serious disciplinary infraction within six months of the classification date, and the number of days that transpired between classification and this conviction.

SCDC is the first correctional system to implement the Adult Internal Management System statewide. AIMS - an internal classification system - is currently implemented in 13 major institutions throughout the state; three of these were added during this fiscal year. In May, 1988, SCDC submitted a grant proposal to the National Institute of Corrections to develop a behavioral classification system for female offenders. Part of the proposal reflects recognition of these key points:

- Female offenders in state prison systems, such as the Women's Correctional Center (WCC) in Columbia, South Carolina, pose a unique set of problems for correctional administrators.
- Female offenders represent a small proportion of the total system population (approximately 5% in South Carolina) which contains an ever increasing population of male offenders to be administered under restrictive fiscal conditions.
- The result is that most resources (and management attention) are drawn to the larger male prisoner population.
- The number of female offenders committed to WCC is increasing at a rate that exceeds that of male offenders in the South Carolina system.
- SCDC must continue to make every effort to insure that incarcerated men and women receive comparable treatment.

The SCDC classification system received national recognition. SCDC personnel have responded to requests from a number of states to provide technical assistance and information. Representatives from several other states and the Department of the Navy have visited South Carolina to observe and discuss SCDC's classification process.

Training employees in the use of the classification system is an ongoing process, as is informing inmates of the program and its likely effect on them. Initial classification orientation for new caseworkers, use of the Adult Internal Management System (AIMS), and legal issues in classification were emphasized in the training program. A special issue of About Face, the inmate newsletter, was written to inform the inmate population about the classification process.

Statutory Authority

The South Carolina Department of Corrections was created in 1960 (Title 24, Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976, as amended) as an administrative agency of the State government. The Department was charged to "implement and carry out the policy of the State with respect to its prison system...and the performance of such other duties and matters as may be delegated to it pursuant to law."

The State's policy is expressed in Section 24-1-20: "It shall be the policy of this State in the operation and management of the Department of Corrections to manage and conduct the Department in such a manner as will be consistent with the operation of a modern prison system, and with the view of making the system self-sustaining, and that those convicted of violating the law and sentenced to a term in the (Department of Corrections) shall have humane treatment, and be given opportunity, encouragement and training in the matter of reformation."

Title 24 also provides statutory authority for a Board of Corrections, employment of a general Commissioner, management and control of the prison system, fiscal and procurement activities, and such other matters as are essential to the operation of a modern state prison system.

Youthful Offender Act

In 1968, the General Assembly enacted legislation, commonly referred to as the "Youthful Offender Act," to prescribe for the correction and treatment of youthful offenders (Sections 24-19-10 through 24-19-160, Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976.) The following is a summary of the act, with supplemental notes on the administration thereof.

A "youthful offender" is any male or female offender who is at least seventeen but less than twenty-five years of age at the time of conviction.

Within the Department of Corrections, there is a Youthful Offender Division which through the end of this fiscal year carried out three primary functions: presentence investigation services and recommendations to the sentencing court; institutional services and supervision of youthful offenders committed to the Department's care; and aftercare services, i.e., parole of youthful offenders and professional supervision of the parolee. (The Department of Corrections will contract with the S.C. Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services to perform the presentence, parole and aftercare services effective July 1, 1988.)

In the administration of the Act, the courts may release a youthful offender to the Department prior to sentencing for an observation and evaluation period of not more than 60 days. A thorough presentence investigation report is made to the court for use in adjudication and sentencing. The report is a factual and diagnostic case study, which includes a clinical interpretation of the offender's present attitude, feelings and emotional responses, together with an estimate of his prospects for change.

A youthful offender may be sentenced indefinitely (although the period may not exceed six years) to the custody of the Department. Upon sentencing, the youthful offender undergoes a series of interviews, a medical evaluation, psychological and educational testing, and is given an orientation on confinement within the department. Youthful offenders are sent to minimum security institutions, and live in dormitories, wards, or rooms, depending on the institution. Work, education and counseling programs are prescribed, and it is the offender's progress in such programs which ultimately decides when or if he will be moved into pre-release work programs and eventually be paroled.

Parole of youthful offenders after they have served a portion of a court sentence is a conditional release of the offender. He remains under supervision, normally for a minimum of one year. Parole supervisors are responsible for providing constant, direct professional supervision of the youthful offender, as well as for organizing and developing the services of volunteers to assist in the aftercare program. Complaints against parolees are investigated and appropriate action taken when indicated. The Department may revoke an order of parole when the action is deemed necessary, and return the youthful offender parolee to a correctional institution for further treatment. A youthful offender is ultimately discharged unconditionally on or before six years from the date of his conviction.

The Act also provides that if the court finds the youthful offender will not derive benefit from treatment, the court may sentence the youthful offender under any other applicable penalty provision. Offenders so sentenced are also placed in the custody of the Department of Corrections.

Supervised Furlough

South Carolina enacted a Supervised Furlough Program in 1981, and the General Assembly modified the program in 1983, 1986 and 1987. Following is a summary of the program as provided for in Section 24-13-710, S.C. Code of Laws.

The Department of Corrections and the Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services have developed a cooperative agreement for the operation of the Supervised Furlough Program. The program permits carefully screened and selected inmates who have served the mandatory minimum sentences as required by law or have not committed any one of certain specified crimes* to be released on furlough prior to parole eligibility under the supervision of the Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services. These inmates have the privilege of residing in an approved residence and continuing treatment, training, or employment in the community until parole eligibility or expiration of sentence, whichever is earlier.

*(Criminal sexual conduct in the third degree; or a lewd act upon a child under the age of fourteen; or a violent crime (i.e. murder, criminal sexual conduct in the first and second degree, assault and battery with intent to kill, kidnapping, voluntary manslaughter, armed robbery, drug trafficking, arson in the first degree, burglary in the first and second degree).)

The statute further provides that to be eligible for the program, an inmate must: (1) maintain a clear disciplinary record for at least six months prior to consideration; (2) demonstrate to Department of Corrections officials a general desire to become a law-abiding member of society; (3) satisfy any other reasonable requirements imposed upon him by the Department; (4) have an identifiable need for and willingness to participate in authorized community-based programs and rehabilitative services; and (5) have been committed to the Department of Corrections with a total sentence of five years or less as the first or second adult commitment for a criminal offense for which the inmate received a sentence of one year or more.

The Department of Corrections has established certain criteria which must be met by an otherwise eligible individual: no outstanding holds, wanteds, or detainers; must not have been removed from participation in a community program within six months of eligibility for supervised furlough; must not be released directly from a psychiatric unit; must not have escaped or been returned from escape within six months of eligibility; must not currently be a participant in the Extended Work Release Program; must have a residence in South Carolina verified and approved by the Department; must not have a pending disciplinary action that qualifies as a major institutional rules infraction; must have served at least six months of his sentence and be within six months of release; and must have served six months free of a major disciplinary infraction prior to eligibility date.

When placed in the Supervised Furlough program, an inmate comes under the supervision of agents of the Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services who insure the inmate's compliance with the rules, regulations, and conditions of the program, as well as monitoring the inmate's employment and participation in prescribed and authorized rehabilitative programs.

Earned Work Credit Program

The Earned Work Credit Program had its beginning in the Litter Control Program, Act 496, 1978, which substantially rewrote Section 24-13-230, Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976. Currently, the SCDC Commissioner is authorized to allow a reduction of time served by inmates assigned to a productive duty assignment, or who are regularly enrolled in academic, technical, or vocational training programs.

The Earned Work Credit Program is considered a motivational program for inmates to help reduce their sentences, and is one strategy whereby the Department tries to stabilize inmate population, reduce overcrowding, and help control capital improvements and operating costs.

The Commissioner has determined the amount of credit to be earned for each duty classification or enrollment and published SCDC Policy 1700.1, which prescribes the guidelines and procedures for the management and administration of the program. At the end of the fiscal year, approximately 225 types of jobs in SCDC institutions were described and approved.

There are four job classification levels; Earned Work Credit is awarded on the basis of these classifications and work performed in the assigned job. An inmate must work at least five hours per day or at least 25 hours per week to be considered "full time" and awarded Earned Work Credits. The job classification levels are:

- Level 2: One Earned Work Credit for each two days worked.
- Level 3: One Earned Work Credit for each three days worked.
- Level 5: One Earned Work Credit for each five days worked.
- Level 7: One Earned Work Credit for each seven days worked.

Most of the jobs available to inmates fall into the following broad categories: cafeteria and food service, construction, driving vehicles, education and library, farm work, industrial jobs in prison industries, institutional maintenance, printers and photographers, public works projects, recreation, staff clerical support. Additionally, some inmates are in community placement (work release, extended work release and supervised furlough) and may be engaged in any one of hundreds of jobs found in their local community.

There are limitations on the Earned Work Credit program; some of these are: anyone serving a life sentence for murder is prohibited from earning credits under the program; educational credits are not available to any individual convicted of a crime designated as violent in Section 16-1-60, Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976; persons sentenced under the Shock Probation Program, Youthful Offender Act, serving sentences under the Interstate Corrections Compact in South Carolina, and inmates serving sentences for non-support/contempt of court are not eligible for EWC; the maximum annual credit for both work and educational credits is limited to 180 days.

During Fiscal Year 1988, an average of 10,721 inmates (85% of SCDC average daily population) were productively engaged and earned credits toward their time to serve. An additional 1,034 inmates, on the average, worked on jobs but due to their sentence category were not eligible for motivational work credits as specified in the Litter Control Program legislation.

Among those eligible for motivational work credit, a total of 984,251 credits were earned during the fiscal year for a productivity average of 92 credits per inmate. These credits ultimately will result in an earlier release date for each of these inmates at an average of 57 days per 100 credit days for those released with sentence served and 100 days per 100 credit days for those paroled. The distribution of credits earned and the type of release is presented in greater detail in Table 25.

The profile of inmates at each job classification level of productive work closest to the end of Fiscal Year 1988 was as follows:

Level	Full Time	Part Time	No. of Inmates
2. One day credit for each two days worked.	4,036	5	4,041 (30.5%)
3. One day credit for each three days worked.	2,802	10	2,812 (21.1%)
5. One day credit for each five days worked.	1,873	81	1,954 (14.7%)
7. One day credit for each seven days worked.	970	227	1,197 (9.0%)
Unassigned/Not Earning Credit*.	3,266	0	3,266 (24.6%)
Total	12,947	323	13,270 (100.0 %)

*Inmates undergoing transfer, reception and evaluation processing, administrative disciplinary action, unassigned, or on Death Row.

Earned Work Credits have the effect of reducing the SCDC population level (by reducing the time served of released inmates) and operational costs. Between July 1, 1987, and June 30, 1988, a total of 7,679 inmates were released from SCDC. Of that number, 5,738 inmates (75%) had their time served reduced via the productive work provisions of the Litter Control Program. (Of the remaining 1,941 inmates released, 221 had earned work credit, but because of a combination of circumstances were not affected in their release eligibility.)

Community Programs Defined

30-Day Pre-Release Program

Inmates who complete their sentences or are provisionally paroled, participate in this program. It offers participants a series of pre-release training sessions at the Watkins Pre-Release Center and the Blue Ridge Community Pre-Release Center. Inmates on the 30-Day Pre-Release program do not work in the community.

Work and Educational Release and Federal Referral Programs

Inmates participating in the Short-Term Work Release, Regular Work Release, Educational Release, and Federal Referral Programs work in the community during the day and reside in SCDC work centers. These programs have similar selection criteria but differ in terms of the inmates' remaining time to serve before eligibility for parole or other forms of release. The Federal Bureau of Prisons refers to SCDC some of their inmates who are legal residents of South Carolina and meet all the criteria for the SCDC Regular Work Release Program.

Extended Work Release Program

This program allows the exceptional work release inmate to continue employment in the community and reside with an approved community sponsor. Program participants continue to be responsible to the work center assigned and are maintained as authorized absentees.

Furlough Program

"AA" custody inmates within the Department are eligible to apply for 72-hour home visit furloughs four times during the year: Easter, July 4th, Labor Day and Christmas. After an inmate successfully completes four consecutive 72-hour furloughs, he/she may apply for one 48-hour optional furlough per calendar year.

Furloughs may be granted for inmates to attend the funeral of an immediate family member, visit a critically ill family member, obtain outside medical services not otherwise available within the Department, contact prospective employers, or secure a suitable residence for use upon release or parole, or participate in educational /training programs in the community.

South Carolina's Ten Regional Councils (Planning Districts)

In 1971, local governments throughout the state formed regional councils - sometimes called planning districts - to act on their behalf. The councils provide a variety of services requested by their local governments, including grants administration, economic development assistance, and planning and management assistance. The services vary from region to region, depending on local needs and priorities. The councils do not pass legislation, enforce laws or levy taxes. Their goal is to work with local governments and public agencies to increase their efficiency and effectiveness.

Presently, the ten regional councils are composed of the following counties (SCDC correctional regions are noted for reference purposes.)

SCDC Appalachian Correctional Region

- 1. South Carolina Appalachian Council of Governments - Anderson, Cherokee, Greenville, Oconee, Pickens, and Spartanburg.
- 2. Upper Savannah Council of Governments - Abbeville, Edgefield, Greenwood, Laurens, McCormick, and Saluda.
- 3. Catawba Regional Planning Council - Chester, Lancaster, York, and Union. (Chester and Lancaster counties are in the SCDC Midlands Correctional Region.)

SCDC Midlands Region

- 4. Central Midlands Regional Planning Council - Fairfield, Lexington, Newberry, and Richland.
- 5. Lower Savannah Council of Governments - Aiken, Allendale, Bamberg, Barnwell, Calhoun, and Orangeburg. (Allendale County is in the SCDC Coastal Correctional Region.)
- 6. Santee-Lynches Council for Governments - Clarendon, Kershaw, Lee, and Sumter.

SCDC Coastal Correctional Region

- 7. Pee Dee Regional Council of Governments - Chesterfield, Darlington, Dillon, Florence, Marion, and Marlboro.
- 8. Waccamaw Regional Planning and Development Council - Georgetown, Horry, and Williamsburg.
- 9. Berkeley-Charleston-Dorchester Council of Governments - Berkeley, Charleston, and Dorchester.
- 10. Lowcountry Council of Governments - Beaufort, Colleton, Hampton, and Jasper.
